You have rights!

GB

Going on strike is a basic right!

No one may suffer prejudice for taking part in a strike when NGG calls for one.

Works councils are there to help and protect you!

No one is allowed to subject you to prejudice for speaking to the works council. You can talk to your works council at any time!

The NGG union would like to know the following:

Have you been intimidated, threatened or harassed by your superior?
Have you been threatened with prejudice if you talk to the works council or wish to exercise your rights? Have you heard of any colleague who has been intimidated, threatened or harassed?
